AMERICAN RIVER
CONSERVANCY

Preserving Rivers and Land for Life

The American River Conservancy protects habitat, native fisheries, scenic vistas, and recreation lands within the upper American River and Cosumnes River watersheds.

The American River Conservancy believes that land stewardship is the recognition of the public's collective responsibility to retain, manage and enhance the quality and abundance of our land, air, water and biodiversity.

The American River Conservancy offers environmental and experiential education programs designed not only to inform, but to inspire. Their place-based education programs explore the unique ecology of the Sierra Nevada foothills and encourage learners to connect to their environment on a deeper level.
